“Elizabeth Fry, Social Reformer”

Speaker: Mr Barry Fry

Mr Barry Fry is a direct descendent of Mrs Elizabeth Fry. As an English / History teacher and a musician, he has pursued a keen interest in family history.

Mrs Elizabeth Fry was a nineteenth century Quaker prison reformer, whose significance was honoured by her image being represented on the English five pound note, as the first non-royal female person.

There are many other recognitions of her service in public places, including a marble statue of her at The Old Bailey and stained glass windows in churches including Fitchett Chapel MLC and St Mark's Anglican Church Camberwell.

“The Moravians”

Speaker: Mr Tim Gatehouse

Mr Tim Gatehouse is a retired solicitor with many historical interests, but particularly the pre-goldrush history of Victoria. This encompasses Charles Latrobe and his family and their Moravian heritage. Tim's ancestors were Moravians in eighteenth century Pennsylvania. He is a ninth generation descendant of Henry Antes who was Charles LaTrobe's grandfather.

The talk will outline the Moravians' core beliefs, the history of their emergence in what is today the Czech Republic, and subsequent spread throughout Europe, the communities they established in England and Ireland, their missions in Australia and connections with John Wesley and the Methodists.
